Confined Space Awareness for Supervisors

This program is designed for those who are responsible to manage employees who have the potential to enter into a confined space in the workplace. Participants will understand the hazards to confined space entrants and methods to control or eliminate those hazards. Specific information will include definition of a confined space, equipment used in confined space, the roles of the entrant, attendant, observer and supervisor of the entry. The course material is based on current OHS information and Best Practices.
